STAY

Powdery white sand, turquoise water and balmy palms welcome you to beautiful Anna Maria Island surrounded by the sparkling Gulf of Mexico on the west and the deep blue bay waters to the east. Known for its Old Florida Charm, there are no high rises here.

Come for charming boutiques, mom-and-pop eateries, and Southern hospitality. We have one-of-a-kind places to stay that fit in with our one-of-a-kind lifestyle from budget friendly to luxury: historic cottages, comfortable condominiums, resorts, private suites, bed and breakfasts, and individual homes.

Wake up in the morning to sounds of swaying palms and Gulf waves. Have breakfast on the lanai or spend time at the pool. Take a bike ride. Hike through the preserves that surround us. Kayak through the mangroves and along the many canals. Sight-see for manatees, dolphins and seabirds on a boat excursion or while parasailing. Fish from one of our three piers or on a chartered boat tour. Watch the sunset from our beautiful beaches or on a cruise. Stare at the endless stars. So many things to do, yet no pressure to do anything at all.

Anna Maria Island is the perfect place to enjoy the slow-paced lifestyle that Florida originated with. We look forward to your stay!

HISTORICALLY, DID YOU KNOW?

- Native American tribes of the Calusa and Timucua may have been the first to visit Anna Maria Island thousands of years ago.
- When government surveyors were mapping this part of the Florida coast, they offered to name the island after Madison Post who was mayor in Tampa at the time (February 10, 1858 until February 12, 1859). Instead, Mayor Post chose to name the island after his wife Maria and her sister Anna.
- In 1894, George Emerson Bean was the first permanent resident when he homesteaded a tract of land from Magnolia Avenue, where The Center of AMI is today, all the way to the "North Point". After his death in 1898, the land was transferred to his son, George Wilhelm Bean who partnered with Charles M. Roser to develop the Anna Maria Beach Company in 1911.
- Charles Roser was rumored to be the inventor of the "Fig Newton" cookie and used $1 million from the sale of the cookie recipe to Nabisco to help fund the Anna Maria Beach Company.
- After meeting George E. Bean, Samuel Cobb and his wife Annie moved to AMI in 1895 where they homesteaded 160 acres of what is now Holmes Beach. Anna Maria Cobb, born in 1897 and named for the island, was the island's first recorded birth.
- The first pier on the island named City Pier, was built in 1911 by the Anna Maria Beach Company at the east end of Pine Avenue. It ran 776 feet out into Tampa Bay. The first bridge to the island was Cortez Bridge, made of wooden planks and completed in 1922. It connected the village of Cortez on the mainland to Cortez Beach on the island's southern end. It was replaced in 1957, then in 1978.
- The one and only jail to have been built on the island was constructed in 1927 on Pine Avenue. It housed the rowdies from the tavern and dance hall that stood where the Sandbar Restaurant is now.
- The village of Cortez, located on the mainland at 119th Street West south of Cortez Road, is the oldest surviving fishing village in Florida. The village has two working Fish Houses and 97 historic buildings dating from at least 1880 when it was settled by a number of people from North Carolina.
- Today's Bradenton Beach city limits begin around 27th Street North and extend south to Longboat Pass. Ruric Cobb settled 153 acres on the northern part of this area in 1903. Cobb was responsible for bringing the first telephone line to the island. South of Cobb's homestead lived David Roush on his 163-acre homestead, which he bought in 1899. Roush was known as the island doctor, treating children and adults in the village of Cortez and on the island whenever a medical emergency occurred. Early visitors in search of sandy, white shores and sparkling blue waters headed to this town called Cortez Beach. Wanting to claim the beach as their own, the citizens of Bradenton influenced a name change in the 1920s, from Cortez Beach to Bradenton Beach
- The City of Anna Maria was incorporated in 1923, Holmes Beach in 1950 and Bradenton Beach in 1953.
- Holmes Beach was named after John E. "Jack" Holmes who built affordable homes, the city shopping center, canals, roads and an airstrip. The Holmes family donated the former airstrip lands for perpetual use which is now occupied by Holmes Beach City Hall, library, baseball field, public works, fire and rescue station, dog park and recreational complex. The fifth generation of the Holmes family continues to live, work and play on AMI.
- The Anna Maria Bridge, sometimes called the Manatee Bridge or Mid-Island Bridge by old timers, is an iconic, bascule bridge. It opened for traffic in 1957 as a toll bridge with a roundtrip charge of 30 cents. Toll collection ended in 1964. The new Manatee Avenue and Cortez bridges revolutionized travel to the island.

It's more than likely that you are here for the powder white sandy beaches. Technically, you can walk on the spectacular quartz sand for seven miles but be sure to take a swim in the clear turquoise Gulf waters that are warm most of the year.

Bodyboarding and paddle boarding are perfect family-friendly water sports you can try out during your visit. Anna Maria Island surfing is a well-loved local water sport, but also the one that takes the most skill. Our island is a good place to test the sport if you are interested at White Avenue or Twin Piers in Bradenton Beach. The waves here tend to be a little smaller and calmer if you get the hang of things.

As a shore bird and turtle nesting sanctuary, our island is home to a great variety of wildlife. Kayak or paddle board through any of the canals or preserves to spot a coral-hued roseate spoonbill as you explore nature. Take a sightseeing wildlife excursion. During sea turtle nesting season, May 1 to October 31, many loggerheads and a few endangered green turtles come ashore to lay their eggs. A variety of shore birds, wild parrots, seagulls, pelicans, osprey, cranes and more enrich our wildlife community. Playful dolphins and manatees, Florida's gentle giants, frequent our waterways. Fishing is plentiful, and many types of sea life call our waters home.

Please observe the rules and regulations concerning our wildlife. This includes lights out on the beach during turtle season and not touching or disturbing nesting sea turtles, hatchlings or their nests. Enjoy shelling but make certain to put back anything with a living organism, that includes starfish – so others can enjoy our sea life naturally.

There are many transportation options on the island. Hike, bike or hop on the free trolley to discover our island lifestyle. Bike around our picturesque village streets or Robinson Preserve. Take a low speed vehicle or hop on our FREE trolley to go where you need to go. The trolley runs the full length of the island from 6 am until 10 pm every day and is a great way to leave the car behind.

Whether you are here for lots of activity or just a relaxing vacation, Anna Maria Island has many ways to play!

ARTS + CULTURE

Take a break from the sun and soak in the rich arts and culture of our laid-back tropical island. Anna Maria Island as an arts destination proudly supports numerous art galleries and studios, a nationally recognized historical society, Manatee County's first live community theatre, a renowned orchestra and chorus, and a published writers' group.

Visit the Anna Maria Island Historical Society Museum and capture your photo in the historic open-air city jail on Pine Avenue. Attend a live performance September through May at The Players, our century-old theater.

AMI is a destination where nature and healing are woven into the fabric of our culture. Rejuvenate your mind and body at one of our many yoga studios, wellness centers or spas.

Visual arts abound in galleries, studios and in colorful murals throughout the island. Eclectic and quirky shops offer a wide variety of local, retail arts. Live music complements your evening dining experience at many island eateries, as well as at annual events of seafood festivals, holiday celebrations and Symphony on the Sand.

ISLAND PLAYERS

We are celebrating a notable anniversary this year. This is an amazing accomplishment for any business. But even more so for a theatre run by volunteers! But then, Theatre is not like any other business. It is a creative collaboration which thrives on the talent, skills and passion of the people coming together over decades and saying "Let's put on a show".

I am sure the founders from 1948 would be very surprised and proud to know their idea of a little theatre on the island is still going strong and providing, not only for island residents, but a destination for our many visitors, from everywhere! We have another great season planned. Come and celebrate with us!

Our volunteers put on five productions per year, September – May. Show timings are Tuesdays through Saturdays at 7:30 pm; Sunday matinee at 2: pm. Mondays are dark. For more information about current productions, tickets and seating, please visit our website: www.theislandplayers.org. Online ticketing is now available for you to purchase seats as early as September for high-season productions. If you're here when we're open, please come by and visit our theater!

LIVE

Anna Maria Island is a glistening jewel with a rich history on the edge of the Gulf of Mexico. First visited and inhabited by Native American people such as the Calusa and the Timucua, the island has been a resource and a haven for many. The beautiful beaches, abundant wildlife and glorious sunshine have drawn people here for centuries.

When you become a resident on Anna Maria Island, you embrace the laid-back lifestyle and Old Florida Charm of our three island “cities”. The population of each city is: Anna Maria - 984 residents, Holmes Beach - about 3,023 residents and Bradenton Beach - 800 residents. Each city has its own mayor and city commission. Holmes Beach and Bradenton Beach have their own police departments. The City of Anna Maria is covered by the Manatee County Sheriff’s Office. The center of each city has a lovely business district with local shops, restaurants and pubs. Fast-food chains are rare on Anna Maria Island. The Island residents strive to maintain that vintage charm that draws so many.

Bradenton Beach is the island’s southernmost city and claims to be the largest public beach. Historic Bridge Street is where the first bridge from the mainland was located, and now where you can find shopping, restaurants and plenty of live music. It is a lovely city with quaint cottages and cozy condominiums. As the narrowest part of the island, a quick stroll will take you from gulf to bay.

Holmes Beach lies in the center of the island and boasts the largest population. There are two shopping areas within the Holmes Beach city limits where you can find the only large grocery store as well as many smaller shops, restaurants, pharmacies, hardware stores and so much more. Homes and condominiums line the beautiful canals and make boating and kayaking very accessible. The island’s only golf course and country club also reside in Holmes Beach.

The City of Anna Maria is located at the northernmost part of the island and is considered the quietest and most residential. Pine Avenue is “main street” and has been called by some, “the sweetest little main street in America”. The city showcases the iconic Anna Maria City Pier which was originally constructed in 1911 to attract tourists from Tampa and St. Petersburg. After being damaged in 2017 during Hurricane Irma, the pier was rebuilt and reopened in 2020, a newer, stronger version, still with its rustic charm. You can also find the Anna Maria Historical Society, the city “jail” and the historic Island Players.

Although not actually on Anna Maria Island, the historic Village of Cortez is considered part of the island community. It has a rich history and is one of the oldest and last remaining fishing villages on Florida’s Gulf Coast. This small working fishing village is located on a peninsula in Sarasota Bay and on Cortez Road (State Highway 684) that connects the mainland to Bradenton Beach to the west. The population of this unincorporated community is 4,121. Families have lived here for generations and are dedicated to preserving the legacy of this village. Narrow streets and historic cottages predominate, but the fishing boats and docks are what bring people here. Their dock to table restaurants and seafood festivals draw thousands each year. Cortez is listed on the National Register of Historic Places and contains the Florida Maritime Museum and Cortez Cultural Center, which showcase the history and lives of the people who call Cortez Village home.

Wherever you choose to call home on Anna Maria Island, you can be sure to find a multitude of things to fill your days or just relax on one of the beautiful beaches. Anna Maria Island is situated on the “Suncoast”. With an incredible average of 242 days of sunshine per year, you can be sure to have plenty of opportunities to get outside to work and play. August is generally the hottest month, with January being the coolest and the best time to see locals wearing jackets. Summertime showers are frequent, but short-lived and often give a little respite from the heat as well as keep our tropical vegetation lush and beautiful. Annual precipitation on Anna Maria Island is around 56 inches, but most important, no snow!

The options for a healthy lifestyle on Anna Maria Island are endless. Bike-riding, playing golf, hiking in one of the many preserves, kayaking, stand-up paddle boarding, boating and fishing are all here. “What are we going to do today?” will be your biggest decision. The indoor activities are just as plentiful. Anna Maria Island has athletic clubs, yoga studios, spas and wellness centers, and a community center. The Center offers sports leagues for children and adults, as well as gym facilities and after school care.

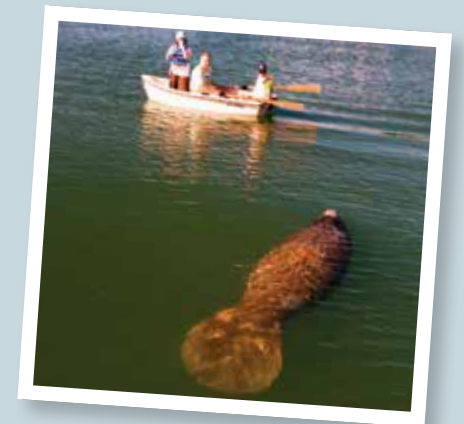

Possibly one of the best things about Anna Maria Island is the diversity of wildlife. This is a nesting area for sea turtles from May through October. Five species of sea turtles swim and feed around the island, with the loggerhead turtle being the most common nesting turtle. Even a few green turtles, a rare find here, come ashore each year to lay their eggs. The Anna Maria Island Turtle Watch & Shorebird Monitoring organization is a non-profit group manned by volunteers who spend countless hours ensuring the protection of these wonderful creatures. Lights out during nesting season, picking up trash, removing beach gear at the end of each day and filling in beach holes help the volunteers and residents protect our sea turtles and keep them coming back.

The warm waters surrounding the island are home to many different species of marine life. On any given day you may spot dolphins swimming and jumping in the waters off the beaches. The West Indian manatees are frequent visitors to the warm, summer waters. You can often see them swim by as you walk the beach, take a stroll on the piers or kayak through the canals. Manatees are a threatened species, protected by state and federal laws. Touching, feeding and/or harassment of any kind are strictly prohibited. Summer also brings the stingrays close to shore, so from April to October be sure to do the “stingray shuffle” as you walk in the warm shallow waters.

Anna Maria Island is a bird sanctuary and draws enthusiasts from all over the world. It is a major migration point as well as a crucial nesting habitat for common and rare shorebirds such as plovers, sandpipers, terns, oystercatchers and black skimmers. Osprey nest in the trees all around the island, and you may be lucky enough to witness them catching their dinner. Wild green monk parakeets, also known as Quaker parrots, have also made Anna Maria Island home. On any given day you may see great blue herons, snowy egrets, roseate spoonbills, both brown and white pelicans, and so many more types of seabirds.

The beauty, small town friendliness and abundance of things to do make Anna Maria Island a wonderful place to live. Raise your children or retire here. Our island has a strong sense of community, and we would love for you to be a part of it. Once Anna Maria Island has captured your heart, consider making it your home.
